Banished From Town—Once ordered to "get dressed" by Reno court when she appeared in shorts for a divorce, socialebrity Ellen Tilton Holmsen today stood "banished" from Rochelle Park, N. J. A police order "asked" her to get out of town because she attracted too much attention in her habitual woolen pajamas and sandals. STORY ON PAGE 6

NEW CHIEFS BEG PEACE IN SPAIN

MADRID, March 6 (INS)—In a surprise peace move, more dramatic and unforeseen than the bloodless coup by which he seized power from Premier Juan Negrin, the Madrid regime's new strong man, General Segismundo Casado, today addressed a radio broadcast to Spaniards in the territory under control of Generalissimo Francisco Franco.

The Spaniards of Franco areas were told by Gen. Casado, head of the new six-man national defense council, that their "Republican brothers" are "seeking peace on the basis of conciliation, independence and liberty."

"We are fighting for nothing for which we ourselves do not desire," declared Casado in apparent repudiation of the influence of foreign nations and foreign ideologies over the Madrid regime.

PEACE OR WAR

"We want the nation to be free of foreign influence and unfettered by the imperialist ambitions of other nations.

"If you offer peace, our hearts will generously respond. If you continue war, we will fight to the death."

Assurance of the new regime's willingness to open direct peace negotiations with the people of the Franco government came after Colonel Mera. Cipriano Mera, spokesman for the army on the defense council, had described its mission as a desire for "an honorable peace, based on justice and humanity."

"But," Mera warned, "should our voice fall on deaf ears, we soldiers are ready to defend the independence of Spain until death."

Previously, a manifesto of the council, admitting the utter hopelessness of winning the war against Franco, proclaimed the intention "to fight to the last drop" to assure "the independence of Spain and the expulsion of all foreigners."

MIAJA FOR PRESIDENT

General Casado backed up his announced intention of giving the Madrid regime a government to which the people could rally with complete faith and confidence by appealing to General Jose Miaja, hero of the defense of Madrid and until recently generalissimo of Loyalist armies, to accept the presidency of the defense council.

Miaja was understood to have accepted the offer from Casado who had shown his own unwillingness to take a dictatorial role by announcing he would remain a colonel, rejecting Negrin's promotion to general.

Spanish Warships Head For Algerian Internment

PARIS, March 6 (AP)—The French government received information today a Spanish Republican fleet of four large warships and several small vessels had been sighted off the Algerian coast after leaving Cartagena yesterday.

It was believed the ships were heading for an Algerian port to be interned preparatory to being handed over to the Spanish Nationalist government.

PICKETS PRESAGE LABOR WARFARE

WAR—This peaceful picketing of a market on Hanover street, North End, by CIO unionists today threatened to turn into a bitter local warfare between John L. Lewis' organization and the A. F. of L., which was to clamp on an embargo on all plants dealing with the rival group.

British May Seek To End Gandhi Fast

RAJKOT, India, March 6 (AP)—The possibility of intervention by the British viceroy of India in Mohandas K. Gandhi's dispute with the native ruler of Rajkot was strengthened today as Gandhi grew weaker on the fourth day of his "fast unto death."

A morning medical bulletin said that the frail little leader was so exhausted that any attempt to sit up brought attacks of giddiness.

The Viceroy, the Marquess of Linlithgow, broke a tour of the Rajputana states and hurried back to New Delhi after appeals from Gandhi's Nationalist followers and Nationalist-controlled provincial governments for pressure on behalf of administrative reforms in Rajkot.

Scores of protests against the adament attitude of Thakore Saheb Shri Dharmendrasinhji, the native ruler, were telegraphed to Lord Linlithgow while a thousand peasants prayed outside the quarters where Gandhi was fasting.

It was Gandhi's sixth hunger strike and his physicians said, "this time the fast will not last many days."

The bald, 69-year-old Gandhi, a wisp of a man in loincloth and shell-rimmed spectacles, lay on a rustic cot on the veranda of a native dwelling, screened from the broiling sun and the eyes of those who had gathered nearby to pray.

Already he had lost two pounds, his legs were swollen, his pulse had quickened and his blood pressure had risen from 168 to 180—but still he joked with his intimates.

The 29-year-old Thakore Saheb, whom Gandhi calls "my son," showed no signs of giving in to the Nationalist leader's demands that the people of Rajkot be given a greater voice in the government.

Gandhi's wife, Kasturibhai, was once again in Rajkot's jail with others arrested for participation in a civil disobedience campaign after Gandhi rejected the Thakore Saheb's offer of her freedom.

OIL FIRMS HIT BY AFL BAN ON CIO

In its militant campaign to "drive the CIO and its Communist allies out of Massachusetts," the American Federation of Labor declared an "embargo" today on four big oil companies serving gasoline filling stations throughout Greater Boston.

Union truck drivers of AFL local 25 were ordered to refuse to make deliveries of oil or gasoline belonging to the four companies being "disciplined."

STATE SEEKS MEDIATION

Similar action by the AFL against meat packing and retailing firms in the Boston market district was impending.

Meantime, Governor Saltonstall today ordered Labor Commissioner James T. Moriarty to do his "utmost" to bring a quick end to the AFL-CIO "war."

The governor said Moriarty was "optimistic."

Michael Widman, CIO leader, said he would appeal to Mayor Tobin to arbitrate.

CLAIM TWO VICTORIES

The AFL claimed victories today in the Hood Rubber plant and the Revere Sugar Refinery, two of several firms subjected to "embargo" Saturday.

In both plants, CIO members were transferring their allegiance to the AFL today, AFL heads asserted.

The order to fight the CIO to the finish came in the midst of national peace negotiations attempted by President Roosevelt between the two groups.

At the same time, the Massachusetts CIO executive committee rallied a "war committee of five union leaders" to take "militant defense action" against the promised AFL embargo.

Police Nab Curley Auto in R. I. After Race Against Train

Former Governor James M. Curley, attempting in a speeding auto to overtake a New York express train, was halted in Rhode Island today when his chauffeur was accused of speeding after a 10-mile chase by a motorcycle officer.

Corporal Moses Snead said he caught up with the machine, driven by Thomas F. Harding of Gallivan boulevard, Boston, after a wild pursuit from Elmwood avenue, Warwick, R. I., to East Greenwich.

He said that at times the auto hit between 80 and 85 miles an hour, and that when he stopped it, Harding told he was engaged in a sort of "point to point" race—that the former Governor missed the train at Boston and tried to overtake it in Providence, but had been too late there also.

He was trying to catch it at Westerly when he was stopped, Snead said Harding told him.

Harding was taken to Wickford barracks to appear later at a special session of the fourth district court at Apponaug before Judge James Leighton.

Curley, who by the time the matter was cleared up had missed the train entirely, posted surety of $200 for his driver and planned on taking another train for New York.

Man Accused By 4 Girls Dies

Due in West Roxbury district court today for sentence on morals charges, involving four 12-year-old girls, James Faulkner, 59, of Summit street, Waltham, failed to appear.

His lawyer, Attorney Benjamin F. Thornburg of Waltham, told Judge Daniel W. Casey:

"My client has gone to face a Higher Tribunal. He died of a heart attack yesterday."

Faulkner was proprietor of a jewelry store in Center street, Jamaica Plain. He had been in business there more than 15 years.

At a hearing last week Judge Casey indicated his intention of finding Faulner guilty, and sentenced him to a year in jail on each of four counts, the terms to run concurrently, but continuance was granted until today.

Dad Predicts Baby Boy Next June

NEW YORK, March 6 (AP)—Some people may think that Sidney A. Fortel is rushing things a bit, but Fortel is a man of confidence and so today he issed a formal announcement that on the 17th or 18th of June "a son will be born to Mrs. Sidney A. Fortel.

Now many a prospective father has predicted the birth of a son—more in hope than in confidence—but Fortel, who lives at 486 17th street, Newark, N. J., says he has studied predetermination of sex for 20 years and has "absolutely found the secret."

BOSTON'S OWN "PEG MALEON"
Muriel Collins Becomes Pensive

PEG MALEON GETS HER FIRST LESSON IN CHARM SCHOOL

By GEORGE W. CLARKE

(Copyright, 1939, by the Boston Evening American)

"Charm," the man said, "is really the thing . . ."

And charm was that undefinable quality which was assumed by George Bernard Shaw's flower girl when, for a wager, some young London blades started out to turn her into a duchess . . . And charm is more than physical beauty—it means cultural background, acquiring that savoir faire which is based on knowing what to do at the proper time.

Gentility is of itself an art rather than an heritage . . .

It was a part of the bargain that he insisted upon . . .

"You can't take this girl," said Stanley Woodward, the artist, when he agreed to help select "Miss Peg Maleon," she who was to become a symbol of brains and beauty among Boston's working girls, "dress her up, and turn her loose again — I won't have it!"

S. Woodward

And everyone agreed most of all the editor who asked for his aid, because it was understood, from the beginning, that permanent good should come to the girl herself, and that, in the telling of her experiences, good would come to all girls.

So after Muriel Collins, the 21-year-old Schrafft waitress who lives in Dorchester, was chosen by Woodward as the girl, she was beautified, moved into a suite at the Copley-Plaza, and was then, by agreement, taken to him at his studio in Rockport so that he could advise her as to the best course to pursue, what studies to take, and why. . . . Her training is to go on long after "Pygmalion," the picture, based on the George

Suitor, 57, Is Held In Shooting of Girl

Fired on twice by a man said by police to be her middle-aged suitor, Dorothy MacDonald, attractive 23-year-old blonde, was seriously wounded in the arm outside her home in Haywood street, East Braintree, today.

One bullet shattered the bone of her left arm just above the elbow and missed her heart only by inches, police said. Drenched in blood, the girl was taken to Weymouth hospital by police.

Half an hour later, Braintree officers, led by Patrolman Frank Maguire and assisted by Quincy police, went to the home of Peter Kogoy, 57, of Nelson street, West Quincy.

TAKEN FROM BED

Kogoy, a Quincy street department employe who figured in the ouster for former Mayor Charles Ross, was placed under arrest and charged at Braintree police headquarters with assault with intent to kill. He was in bed when officers arrived at his home and firmly insisted he retired at 11 o'clock last night.

In a dramatic scene at her hospital bedside, however, Miss MacDonald positively identified Kogoy as her assailant.

He was taken to the hospital by Deputy Police Chief Eric Nelson of Braintree, and when the two entered the room, Kogoy said:

"Hello!"

Then, in an undertone, he spoke some rapid words which the deputy did not catch.

"THAT'S THE MAN!"

"Have you ever seen this man before?" Nelson asked the girl.

"That's the man who shot me," she said, and her lips tightened.

"What's the matter with her!" Kogoy exclaimed.

He burst into tears and Nelson led him from the room, proceeding then to Quincy court.

In court, without counsel, Kogoy pleaded not guilty and was held in $25,000 bail for hearing Saturday.

The shooting occurred at 1 a. m. Police said the engine of Kogoy's automobile was warm when they took him in custody.

On the way to the hospital, Miss MacDonald sobbed the story of Kogoy's courtship and described the shooting, police said.

"I was on my way home from the movies when it happened," she was quoted by police as saying.

"Just as I started for my house, a man jumped from behind some

BLUEBEARD GOES ON TRIAL IN U. S. DANCER KILLING

PARIS, March 6—A Bluebeard murder trial that is expected to make the fickle French public forget the "Bluebeard" Landru case starts this week when Eugene Weidmann faces the Assizes Court in Versailles.

Dapper, young, and very German, Eugene is charged with the slaying of six women, always for money.

One of his alleged victims was Jean DeKoven, New York dancer, young, pretty, and with a brilliant career stretching alluringly ahead of her.

Weidmann was brutal in his killings, the government will allege. It will also say he got very small sums of money from victims.

Miss DeKoven was the first victim in the series of horrifying crimes. In the confession which police say he made at the time of his arrest, Weidmann declared he met her at a Paris hotel and became friendly with her, saying he had been in America and knew mutual friends.

The friendship led to a fatal visit of the dancer to Weidmann's villa at St. Cloud. There as she sat on a divan he walked behind her, seized her by the throat and strangled her. He took $500 from her purse and buried the body in his cellar.

It was his attempt to cash a traveler's check originally issued to Miss DeKoven which resulted in Weidmann's arrest. Frantic relatives had conducted a search for the missing dancer throughout Europe. They identified her body after Weidmann had sneeringly led police to his cellar.

Five other victims, police say, met a similar fate. They were Jeannine Kellar, unemployed Alsatian governess; Joseph Couffy, a French taxi driver; Roger Leblond, small-time impresario; Raymond Lesobre, a renting agent, and Frita Frommer.

Girl Glad Suicide Try Failed; Finds New Joy With Mother

Reunited with her mother and urged to "come home and forget all that's happened," dark-haired, pretty Margaret "Mitchell" Pendleton, 17-year-old near-victim of a gas suicide attempt, made cheerful and "sensible" plans for the future at City Hospital today.

"As soon as I'm able to leave here, I'll go for a while at least to the home of my mother and stepfather in Cambridge street, West End," she said.

"They really seem to want me. Mother was sweet. She came to visit me last night. I guess false pride was one of my troubles.

"This awful experience has taught me a lot. For one thing, I found out my boy friends couldn't be counted on in a pinch.

EAGER TO GET JOB

"I still want a job more than anything. I can't be a burden on my mother. For the time being, all I know is how to wait on table or perform domestic work.

"But I hope later I can go to night school and get some sort of secretarial training."

The black despondency which caused Margaret to try to take her own life in a shabby, furnished room in Hancock street, West End, where she was penniless and hungry and facing eviction, seemed "like a bad dream" to her today.

MARGARET PENDLETON

When she was first taken to the hospital, she was "disappointed" because firemen had brought her back from death's borderland with a new-type "artificial lung."

But now—

"I've come to my senses," she said. "I see how foolish I was. Suicide wasn't a 'way out.' I'll never try it again."

Margaret's mother, Mrs. Katherine Suttie, Myrtle street, West End, wife of a Boston hotel chef, told police her daughter had run away from home several times and once from a private school in Belmont.

The mother and Margaret's father separated when she was small, Mrs. Suttie said, a divorce following.

Margaret was born at Ilsebora, Me., and on one of her runaways, according to her mother, went back to Maine and worked there six weeks.

Song War

To settle a departmental row in the music division of the city schools, Boston's school committee will hold a public hearing today on the merits of the case of Leona Vanni, piquant 17-year-old senior at Girls High School.

Leona claims she was awarded the role some weeks ago and then denied it when Supervisor of Music James A. Ecker informed her he had selected his brother, Joseph, an optometrist and professional baritone, in her place.

Yesterday the girl's mother, Mrs. Beatrice Vanni of Hemenway st., Back Bay, declared she has already presented Supt. Arthur Gould of the Boston schools with letters from girl fellow-students who heard Supervisor Ecker announce that Leona had been awarded the singing role.

Hit-Run Auto Kills Mother of 4; Hold Suspect in Allston

A widowed Allston mother of four was instantly killed today by a hit-and-run auto, allegedly operated by a Commonwealth avenue garage attendant.

The victim, Mrs. Pearl Lambert, 48, of Corey road, was crossing Commonwealth avenue, near Summit avenue, Brighton, when struck.

Police said the auto was a coupe, with Florida registration plates. It was found abandoned in Commonwealth avenue, with a front fender dented and a headlight smashed.

DENIES HITTING WOMAN

The fatal crash allegedly occurred as the car was being delivered to its owner, after it had been stored over night in a Commonwealth avenue garage.

Mrs. Lambert

John H a r g r o v e, 52, of Revere street, Revere, was arrested, charged with m a n s l a u g h t e r. Police said he admitted he was to deliver the Florida coupe.

He denied the car hit Mrs. Lambert or that he had been involved in any accident.

OWNER EXONERATED

Alleged owner of the car is a Miami man, visiting friends in Commonwealth avenue, Brighton.

Police absolved him from blame.

Mrs. Lambert, the victim, was the mother of two sons and two daughters.

One of the daughters is Mrs. Virginia Repucci of Putnam street, Somerville. Another is Miss Audrey Lambert.

She and two brothers, Bernard and Elbert Lambert, lived with their mother in Allston.

8 Brockton Men Grilled in Breaks

Eight Brockton men were rounded up today and grilled at Quincy police headquarters about more than 100 safe breaks on the South Shore in the past few months.

Five suspects were arrested at gunpoint in Randolph by Chief Patrick McDonnell, who took them to Quincy for questioning. A few hours later Brockton police took into custody three others and joined Quincy police in the investigation.

The eight suspects were all fingerprinted and photographed as State Police and detectives from six cities and towns hurried to Quincy to join in the investigation.

Safe-crackers have been looting business offices in Quincy, Brockton, Taunton, Weymouth, Braintree, Canton and Hull. Notes ridiculing police were found near several of the safes and handwriting will be compared with that of the suspects. Fingerprints and footprints will also be checked.

CIO Foes Bar Nazis and Reds

DETROIT, March 6 (INS) — Homer Martin's anti-CIO convention of the United Automobile Workers Union today adopted by acclamation a constitutional amendment which specifically bars Communists, Nazis or Fascists from holding office in the union and gives the union broad power to bar any Communist, Nazi or Fascist from membership.

Ousted Schoolmarms Issue As 55 Towns Go to Polls

Massachusetts goes to the polls today and tomorrow in 55 of her communities—with two ousted school teachers, blonde and pretty, full in the political spotlight.

The school controversies, long and vehement, are scheduled for settlement in Saugus and Carver.

In Saugus, where at least 6000 votes are expected to be polled today, blonde Miss Isabelle Hallin, dismissed by the school committee more than a year again, is factor in the election of the new school committee.

Mrs. Hallin

Miss Hallin's mother, Mrs. Annie L. Hallin, is seeking election to the committee, with six others seeking re-election is Miss Maria E. Smith, who voted against reinstatement of Miss Hallin with the majority members of the committee and who openly opposed the pretty teacher's efforts to win back her job.

Mrs. Hallin at the time of filing her papers as a candidate declared she sought election as a "vindication" of her daughter. Others who seek the two school committee berths are William Stewart Braid, Arthur Dearing, Frederick M. Kelley, Dr. Claire Myron and Walter L. Roy.

A close contest is also indicated with 11 candidates seeking the three offices of town selectmen. Three are seeking re-election, Chairman Edward Gibbs, Jr., William R. Rockhill and George H. Quarmby. Among the candidates most favored to oust the present incumbents is Harold P. Rice, with Henry McCullough as a "dark horse."

ANOTHER STORM CENTER

In Carver, the little Colonial community goes to the polls tomorrow to elect a new school committee and with chief issue of the election the fate of another pretty blonde ousted teacher, Miss Florence Kaski.

Miss Kaski was refused reinstatement and removed from the payroll last April after one of the most spirited battles the town has ever known. Since her dismissal she has been jobless and has been eagerly awaiting the election, expressing hope the new school board would reinstate her.

Seeking re-election to the board is Mrs. Eleanor Shaw, who publicly opposed Miss Kaski and who voted to oust her. Mrs. Shaw is opposed by three candidates, all of whom have gone on record as favoring Miss Kaski's reappointment. The three are Mrs. Orrie Dempsey and Mrs. Marjorie Telfer, both mothers of school children, and Winston Leach.

BROOKLINE'S BIG YEAR

One of the hottest contests today is in Arlington, with 30 candidates seeking the 11 contested offices. There are six candidates for the office of selectman for three years to fill the vacancy caused by the recent death of Selectman George H. Lowe, Jr.

ISABELLE HALLIN

Dedham also faces one of the bitterest town elections in years today.

Brookline tomorrow expects a turnout of the largest number of voters in history, following bitter campaigns for the board of selectmen and the school committee.

Florence Kaski

Selectman William J. Hickey, Jr., candidate for reelection, and five others seek his seat and the post left open by the retirement of Selectman Bremmer. There are nine candidates for three places on the school committee, including Mrs. Edith C. Baker, a member for 39 years. Edward H. McGrath, Jr., former Harvard baseball captain, and Rev. Dan Huntington Fenn, minister of the First Church in Chestnut Hill, are candidates as is Paul Kerins, a sophomore at Harvard who will cast his first vote at tomorrow's election.

Fog, Rain Halt Ships and Planes

Fog and rain disrupted shipping and grounded planes along the New England coast today.

A warm drizzle melted snow banks in the hills and caused watch to be kept for rising waters in streams throughout the region.

Air line officials predicted improved conditions later in the day and resumption of service.

Visibility was so poor at the Cape Cod Canal that traffic through that waterway was suspended.

PAJAMA BEAUTY IN EXILE

ROCHELLE PARK, N. J., March 6—Exiled "unofficially" by a police order, Ellen Tilton Holmsen, who is very prominent in society and once made her bow at Buckingham Palace, was still on the New York side of the Hudson river today.

She was "asked" out of town by Police Chief William E. Powell of this community, who said her trick of going about in woolen pajamas and sandals attracted too much attention.

Mrs. Holmsen has not indicated what her next line of strategy will be, but she is expected to strike back.

Lawyers with a desire to establish reputation as defenders of liberalism and civil rights are camping on her doorstep in Long Island, begging permission to take the case.

The tall, blonde bluebood, who was ordered to "get dressed" by a Reno judge when she appeared in his courtroom in shorts, was escorted to the George Washington bridge Friday, Powell said, after he and the police of Harrington Park and Closter, decided her attire "for simplification of life" upset townsfolk near Hackensack.

The young matron, Powell said, was politely but firmly told that it was the desire of the New Jersey authorities that she remain on the east side of the Hudson river.

Mrs. Holmsen, located at Flushing, Queens, admitted today she was the Mildred Tilton, former wife of Nicholas Holmsen, son of Gen. Holmsen of the Imperial Russian guards and former Russian attache at Athens.

Girls, Here's a Tip -- Blush Coyly

NEW YORK, March 6 (AP)—American girls, said M. Dono Edmond today, have an unfortunate habit of looking men straight in the eye.

"It is not alluring," said Edmond, former court beauty adviser to the late Queen Marie of Roumania. "It makes a man feel inferior. He feels you're trying to probe his mind."

Far better it is to look at him fleetingly, and then look away, continued Edmond.

"Yes, I believe women should be somewhat coy," he said, "but I don't mean baby talk. That's terrible! It annoys a mans' nerves.

"Women should learn how to blush. It can be done by exhaling a little longer than they are accustomed."

Edmond has launched a course of instruction for brides-to-be on how to conduct themselves with grace at their wedding ceremony —how to walk properly to the altar.

His general views of feminine charm today were so intriguing the course was forgotten.

Far better, he said, to be a homely woman with assurance and grace than be pretty and awkward. The homely woman with poise and charm can always get her man, he explained.

"Enchanting!" he exclaimed of American girls in general. "But they way they walk is awful. The way they take steps! No esteem of the value of poise!

"A girl should move with intrigue, stepping high, bending the knee and pushing the back in, as if someone had given her a kick!"

HUGE SUM ASKED FOR HUB BAY

Expenditure of $100,000,000 on Boston harbor, to make it the best and most modern in the world, was advocated today before the legislative committee on state administration by Capt. William P. Coughlin of Winthrop while discussing a bill to establish a port of Boston reconstruction commission.

Under terms of the bill a 25-year city and state bond issue would pay for proposed improvements. These would include construction of deep-water landing piers, warehouses, packet piers and other stations for the use of the federal and state departments and private enterprises.

Under the proposed plan Castle, Spectacle, Long, Georges, Governors, Rainsford, Deer, Gallops, Lovells, Little Brewster and Big Brewster island would be developed for docking heavy draught ships.

Captain Coughlin termed the present piers in Boston "birdcage piers" and said that they should be replaced by modern structures.

RESERVE BOARD ASKS MORE VAST SPENDING

WASHINGTON, March 6 (INS)—The Federal Reserve Board collided head on today with the growing congressional movement for curtailment of government spending.

In opposition to demands by an economy bloc led by Vice-President Garner, the board asserted that the federal government must continue huge outlays of public funds to insure business recovery.

The board expressed the economic philosophy of its chairman, Marriner Eccles.

The FederalReserve made known its attitude just after the National Economy League proposed a drastic "deficit-reducing" program for the federal government which would slice $1,708,000,000 below President Roosevelt's budget estimates.

Roosevelt, 4 Aides Plan Business Help; Axe for Profit Tax

WASHINGTON, March 6 (NS)—President Roosevelt and his aides have adopted a "definite policy" of co-operation with business in an effort to stimulate recovery, Speaker Bankhead said today following a conference between Mr. Roosevelt and the "Big Four" in Congress at the White House.

"I think the President and Congress are most interested in getting business off the dead center where it now rests," Bankhead stated. "I think everything possible will be done without sacrificing the social reforms which the administration has sponsored.

"The President and his aides are most anxious to cooperate with business. It is a definite policy."

PROFITS TAX REPEAL

Simultaneously, as a definite move toward business recovery, Senator King (D.), of Utah, introduced a bill to repeal the undistributed profits tax so that "not a shadow of it will remain."

Bankhead disclosed the President reiterated at the conference—attended also by Vice-President Garner, Democratic Leaders Barkley of the Senate and Rayburn of the House—that he would propose no more legislation at this session.

"I know of no reason why business should be fearful of making investment, nor why business should not join with the administration in an effort to bring about recovery," the Speaker added.

PLEDGES CO-OPERATION

Asked whether the current appeasement program toward business was simply another "breathing spell," or a definite policy, Bankhead said:

"I don't think I violate any confidence when I say the President reiterated he had no new measures to suggest to Congress other than those on which he has already given his views.

"I believe the country can rest assured of the whole-hearted co-operation of government with business."

Works Chief Raps Solons on Budget

Public Work sCommissioner William F. Callahan, chief target of the Saltonstall purge, and Representative Albert F. Bigelow, "watchdog of the treasury," clashed today at the continued hearing on the state budget.

Discontinuance of state road building for two years would mean laying off several hundred engineers and clerks in his department, Callahan told the legislative ways and means committee.

Bigelow, House chairman of the committee, questioned Callahan about the steady increase in personnel appropriations since 1934, amounting to nearly $200,000.

Wm. F. Callahan

BLAMES LEGISLATUE

"You must remember, in that time we've had two floods and a hurricane," retorted the public works commissioner.

"What I'm driving at," Bigelow shot back, "is that this appropriation has increased steadily and that these are not temporary employees but permanent."

"Well if the Legislature keeps putting on new laws and tieing us up with red tape," asserted Callahan, "we've got to have more help. Your increases in the salaries of laborers has added roughly a half million dollars to our budget.

"No wonder we have increases in the entire appropriation for public works."

YOKE FIGHTS BUDGET

Mayor Edward J. Yoke of Chelsea, president of the Mayor's Club of Massachusetts, led opposition to the Public Works budget.

"It is more important to feed needy people than to build more roads," declared Mayor Yoke.

He advocated continued diversion of gasoline tax to the general fund, to aid cities and towns in welfare work and to lower the state tax.

Both Yoke and Norman MacDonald, executive director of the Massachusetts Federation of Taxpayers' Associations, told the committee, now engaged in trying to whittle Mayor Saltonstall's $190,000,000 biennial budget, that road work suspension is imperative.

4 Couples Guilty In Hotel Raid

Four girls and four men, alleged to have been together when police staged a surprise early morning raid on the Brigham Hotel in Washington street, were arraigned today in Municipal Court charged with statutory offenses and violations of the True Name Law.

Two of the girls and two of the men were each given one-month suspended sentences, another couple were held in $100 each for disposition on Thursday, after they had been found guilty. The fourth couple also were found guilty, the man being fined $10 and the girl's case being continued until tomorrow.

Pontiff to Avoid American Politics

VATICAN CITY, March 6 (INS)—A strict "hands off" policy toward American politics will be followed by Pope Pius XII in spite of his personal friendship with President Roosevelt and Postmaster General James A. Farley, it was learned authoritatively today.

At the same time, election of Cardinal Pacelli quickly pushed into the forefront the question of re-establishing full diplomatic relations between the Holy See and Washington.

VATICAN REPLIES

Italian newspapers gave prominence to reports from Washington that in view of Cardinal Pacelli's personal contact with Mr. Roosevelt when the Cardinal secretary of state went to America in 1936, formal relations might be restored after a lapse of 72 years.

Among the papers featuring this report was the Regima Facista, which is edited by Roberto Farinacci, a veteran Fascist leader and Italy's chief anti-Semite.

These reports brought the immediate and clear-cut decision of the Vatican, as set forth by one spokesman:

"The position of the Catholics in America is excellent. They are permitted free exercise of their religion, and enjoy the benefits of complete freedom of conscience.

CHANGE UNNECESSARY

"An exchange of diplomatic representation formalizing the relations between the Vatican and Washington would raise a multitude of difficult and embarrassing questions. The Holy See does not intend to take any step which might be construed, however erroneously, as an opening wedge for Catholic or church interference with American politics, foreign or domestic."

American Catholics, a semi-official source told International News Service, do not feel the need of a nunciature (papal embassy) since all business concerning Vatican-American relations is amply taken care of by the present apostolic delegate to Washington.

Cardinal Pays Visit to College

ROME, March 6—William Cardinal O'Connell, as one of its most distinguished alumni, today revisited the scenes of his early training for the priesthood.

Nearly three score years ago, as a comparative youth he completed his training for the priesthood and was ordained at the North American College. That was in 1884, and it was to this college that his eminence returned today.

The prelate also served as rector here in 1895.

At the same time, the cardinal's nephew-in-law, Judge Paul G. Kirk, and his nephew, Joseph O'Connell, returned to Rome today from a motor trip to Florence and Venice.

They cut their journey short when they learned the Pope would grant them an audience tomorrow.

Military Rites For Jos. S. Ward

A solemn high mass of requiem was celebrated in St. Joseph's Church, Wakefield, today for Joseph S. Ward, 38, lawyer, engineer and rewriteman on the Hearst Boston newspapers, with hundreds of relatives, friends and associates in attendance.

Burial was in Forest Glade Cemetery, Wakefield.

Full military honors were accorded the deceased. A squad from the 182nd Infantry fired a volley at the grave, after taps had been sounded.

Pallbearers were, George Sprague and Harry Benwell of the Boston Daily Record, Daniel J. Lynch, secretary to Gov. Saltonstall, and William Callahan, Henry W. Harris and Lafayette Marchand, all of the Boston Globe.

The mass was celebrated by the Rev. William Keville, assisted by the Rev. John Cosgrave, deacon, and the Rev. Thomas Murphy, sub deacon.

The Corp. Harry E. Nelson Post, American Legion, was represented by Howard Wells, commander, and Edward McIntyre, junior vice-commander. Wakefield Post 161, Veterans of Foreign Wars, was represented by Frederick G. Gorman, past commander, and Theodore L. Roach, also a past commander.

The Catholic archdiocese of Boston rejoiced in the election of the new Pope with services of thanksgiving in more than 300 churches in the diocese.

The official tribute of the diocese was the Te Deum service in the Cathedral of the Holy Cross. There, the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Richard J. Haberlin, D. D., vicar general, and in charge through the absence of Cardinal O'Connell, officiated.

An especially impressive tribute was given the new Pontiff by perhaps his most intimate American friend, Most Rev. Francis J. Spellman, auxiliary bishop of the Boston archdiocese.

Nazi Pact With Pope Seen by Fr. Coughlin

DETROIT, March 6—The German government of Adolf Hitler will reconcile its views with those of the Vatican and Pope Pius XII.

This today was the prediction of the Rev. Charles E. Coughlin following a weekly broadcast. He said the Fuehrer will accept peace rather than ostracism from Christendom.

If such reconciliation is not brought about, Fr. Coughlin said, Germany will "accept the inevitable destiny of casting its lot with the outcast government of Moscow."

Eulogizing the new Pope, Fr. Coughlin said "the world will wait anxiously for the contributions which this Pontiff will make in behalf of peace."

Holliston Mother Dying After Plunge From Husband's Car

After plunging from her husband's automobile as it sped along Cochituate road in Framingham, Mrs. Dorothy Mahan Perkins, 22, was dying at Framingham Union Hospital today, according to police.

Trying to reconstruct the scene from stories told by the husband, Francis E. Perkins, 2?, police said he and his wife had been quarreling over their three children.

Perkins has been living at their former home in Railroad street, Holliston, while she has been living with her own people in Winthrop street, Holliston.

Perkins, according to police, said he and his wife took a ride to discuss the future of their children and their own matrimonial relations.

GONE TWO MONTHS

Those relations have not been too happy, he said, si...e she had an attack of amnesia last Thanksgiving and was found two months later in a hospital in Hartford, Ct.

They drove about for two hours, police quoted Perkins as saying, with the conversation getting progressively more acrimonious.

In Framingham, police said the husband told them, she pushed the car door open and lurched into space.

When Perkins stopped his car and backed up, she was lying unconscious in the roadside.

He loaded her into his car, he said, laid her head on his knees and drove through Cochituate, Natick and Sherborn to his Holliston home.

GIVEN LAST RITES

He and relatives administered home restoratives, then summoned Dr. Willis R. Byrne, who ordered the young wife to the hospital, diagnosing her injury as a probable fracture of the skull.

She was given last rites of her church, and her family was summoned.

She is the daughter of William H. Mahan.

WOMAN, 73, SUICIDE

LINCOLN, R. I., March 6—The body of Mrs. Mabel Marsh, 73, of School street in the Saylesville district, was found by state police today in a nearby pond. Stephen A. Kenney, medical examiner, said her death was due to suicide by drowning.

East Is East in Newton Again

Newton police were rather secretive and mysterious about it today, but five weathervanes which disappeared from their usual perches atop flagpoles, garages and barns were back in place.

Patrolman Thomas McCormick of the Newton police after sleuthing about found two Newton high school boys were the perpetrators. They were accused of it in front of their parents and admitted they had stolen the vanes "just for a lark." In view of the return of the property police said there would be no prosecution.

"Someone took the sacred cod-fish out of the state house and got away with it and we thought we could get away with the weathervanes," was the explanation of one of the students.

Fleeing Man Seized After Chelsea Break

'Skylark' Ticket Sale Opens

Seats for the entire engagement of Gertrude Lawrence in Samson Raphaelson's new comedy "Skylark" went on sale at the Shubert box office this morning.

"Skylark" will be seen for the first time on any stage at the Shubert next Monday evening. The engagement is for two weeks only and will positively end on Saturday evening, March 25.

The world premiere promises to be a brilliant one. This is the first time on record that a star has immediately followed her appearance here in one role with another. Miss Lawrence scored an emphatic hit in "Susan and God," and there is great interest in seeing her in the new part of Lydia Kenyon in the Raphaelson play, which is now rehearsing here.

John Golden contracted for the presentation of "Skylark" last November. Because of his appreciation of audience reaction, he arranged for the initial performance here.

'Blondie' Tops Gayety Film Fare

Blondie, Dagwood and Baby Dumpling, Hearst Cartoonist Chic Young's comic strip creations, have been transferred to the screen, first happily and for the best three days they will be in evidence at Loew's State and Orpheum theaters on New York's Screen. On the same bill is Enjoyed with Glenda Farrell and Cary Knight.

'The Firefly' At Square Tomorrow

Freddie Bartholomew in "David Copperfield," and Louis Hayward in "Midnight Intruder" will be featured on the Square Theater screen tomorrow by "The Firefly," co-starring Jeanette MacDonald and Allan Jones.

ELSA TASHKO as Lady Macbeth in the Federal Theater's "Macbeth" at Copley.

Bette Davis Hit On Tremont Bill

Bette Davis, this year's Academy Award winner, in her other Academy Award picture, "Dangerous," is the attraction on the Tremont screen through Wednesday. "Dangerous" was one of the former Newton girl's first screen successes. Also on the current Tremont bill is "Lord Jeff," starring Freddie Bartholomew.

Coming Thursday is "Men Are Not Gods," with Gertrude Lawrence, brilliant British actress now in Boston rehearsing for "Skylarks." Sherman Raphaelson's new play opening at the Shubert a week from tonight.

Normandie's Bill

For today only, the Normandie Theater is showing "Angels With Dirty Faces," starring James Cagney with the "Dead End Kids," and "Thanks for the Memory," co-starring Bob Hope and Shirley Ross.

"Maytime," with Jeanette MacDonald and Nelson Eddy, returns tomorrow through Thursday with "Gangster's Boy," starring Jackie Cooper, co-feature.

AT THE NEWSREEL

CHAPTER NINE

Mary, confident her Divine Son can solve the bridal couple's problem, asks His help.

By COLLIN CLINE

SORROW and suffering filled the holy life of Jesus. But on earth He experienced happiness too. A notable instance was the marriage feast in the village of Cana.

Jesus and His disciples were guests as was Mary, His mother. We see a most joyous throng mingling with the merry-making. Seemingly the servants, watching the dancing and partaking of the generous banquet.

Soon additional guests arrive because many more friends and relatives than had been expected came to greet the bride and groom and the evening's merry-making was made. The supply of wine was exhausted.

Kind-hearted Mary, aware that the bridal couple would be saddened if any guest could not be served, went to Jesus and asked His help.

He replied in words that seem strange today: 'Woman what have I to do with thee? Mine hour is not yet come.'

Now our Saviour was not being disrespectful to His mother. When He used the expression "Woman" was used by children as we today would use "Mother." What He meant was: 'I must wait for the command of My Father in Heaven before I can act.'

Mary understood for the Bible tells us she turned to the servants and said: 'Whatsoever He saith unto you, do it.'

At once Jesus told them to fill the jars with water and to take them to the banquet table. With complete confidence, the servants obeyed. And as from every jar poured wine, the finest anyone had ever tasted that evening.

The picture of Jesus doing Mary a favor at this marriage feast was painted by George Hole, famous English artist, who devoted a great part of his life to religious work.

TOMORROW one of Artist Hole's most beautiful pictures will be shown and a story illustrating our Saviour's love of tolerance told.

JOBLESS YOUTH

are a "menace" to our social order, declares a bill which "obviously have to do something about this destructive waste of productive man power," declares a Beacon Hill Representative. He wants an appropriation of $50,000 to map a "complete" campaign.

Unfortunately the legislators mean that young people who are denied the opportunity to work may be attracted to crime and indolence more readily than their unfortunate brothers and sisters who are self-supporting.

With that fear no one will disagree. But there will be abundant disagreement regarding the spending of $50,000 for what very probably will be merely another in a long series of reports issued by various States deploring the plight of our sons and daughters.

More practical and a thousand times more welcome to youth would be a sincere attempt on the part of legislators to remove the taxes and laws that strangle business and thus curtail employment opportunities.

Contrary to what any legislative commission says, today's major menace is not the boy or girl who lacks a job. The major menace is the POLITICIAN who destroys the job. . . .

Human Side of News -:-

by EDWIN C. HILL

CHICHESTER, N. Y., a town of generations of woodworkers on the auction block a few weeks ago, gets a new lease of life. There's a deal on which will reopen the furniture factory. When the hungry citizens heard the good news, the first thing they said was, "Now we can open up the bowling alley."

That's interesting, because the spot Rip Van Winkle picked out for his 20-year nap is only around the corner from Chichester and this mountain country. No wonder they take to bowling.

WHEN RIP returned his wife's new husband said, "Give him a cold potato and send him away." It had slept 120 instead of 20 years he might have found folks more friendly, but he would be lucky to get a cold potato after more than a century of industrial progress. He probably would have gone to sleep again, hoping to wake up in a day when a settled community might earn a living.

EDWIN C. HILL
Sees Company Towns Doom

Company towns of mining camps, lumber camps, have enjoyed prosperity and security of labor, if not always freedom. But they are not an American institution. They are anathema to the American tradition. They are many.

Here at Chichester is a city-over into the power age of Walt Whitman's "Democratic Vistas" who broke the soil, made the tools, opened their mills and paid their bills and took no back talk from anybody.

Perhaps they should be compared with the whole farming again, the town is still up for sale and that means the home of every man in it, the church and general store, and even their beloved bowling alley.

The increase in farm and home tenancy and share cropping has been a disquieting trend of latter-day America.

But the company-town is now passing.

AN OBSERVING friend of this writer, who recently toured the South, tells me that the textile industry, long the stronghold of this form of industrial communism, is beginning to encourage town ownership and organization entirely independent of the company. He visited one Southern textile town where a hundred and fifty new homes are being built by workers who own them. Each has a garden and a cow. Each is a unit in a democratic community.

"Industrial paternalism doesn't work out anywhere near as well as parental paternalism. We are unable to believe that both are unmitigated evils.

"There is absolutely no substitute for the ownership of some property and security all around. I predict that in a few years the company town will be a thing of the past in the textile region."

WHAT ALWAYS BELIEVED that a Bostonian must be the most difficult of this world's inhabitants, cannot be entirely transplanted in another city of another and no matter how long it may live there. He can get right on throwing of himself as a Bostonian and claiming the city with a certain pride that he native born to people born in and around Boston.

There are, in fact, a number of ex-Bostonians who even though they now live in Europe continue to send their laundry to Boston. I know a gentleman living in Paris who still loves all his suits in Boston. And a lad, whose home has been in Jerusalem for the past several years, sent to Boston for his last trousers.

MISS GERTRUDE LEE, head of the Personal Shoppers' Service at Jordan Marsh Company, can tell about it. Her department fills all manner of orders from all over the world from Bostonians who go traveling or move to other cities. So it just goes to show you how we like to cling to old traditions, customs and habits.

The Shoppers' Service, in case you didn't know, can be quite a blessing. There's a whole staff on hand at Jordan's to solve any kind of shopping problem, whether it be matching a bit of ribbon to your new hat, or outfitting Junior in a new spring suit. Bewildered daddies frequently put their small children in the hands of the department and simply say: "They need everything new." That's sufficient instruction for a really good professional shopper.

PROFESSIONAL SHOPPERS' DUTIES ARE MANY
Miss Betty MacDonald Is Always Busy at Jordan's

Mothers, on their way to a matinee or bridge party, sometimes leave a child or two at the Shopping Service to be newly outfitted. And women who vaguely distrust their own sense of style, may find guidance and expert advice from Miss Betty MacDonald who handles such cases.

If you happen to be going on a cruise, you may also learn just what type of clothes you'll need—which can save you a lot of expense and possible embarrassment. There is, incidentally, no charge for the service.

If War Comes -:-

by HUGH S. JOHNSON

WASHINGTON, March 6—The Ludlow Resolution is up again. It is going to keep us out of foreign wars by a Constitutional Amendment of which Mr. Ludlow says: "The only way to stay out of foreign wars is for the people to have the opportunity to vote on whether or not they want to get in."

That seems so absurd to me that I wouldn't have put it that way if Mr. Ludlow himself had not done so first.

WAR IS FACT. Declarations of war don't make it. They were a legal device to put some fairness into the conduct of war. That is now out. Nations don't declare war any more.

If by Constitutional Amendment or a law we could control the other fellow, we ought to do it at once. Of course, we can't. And so to say that the way "to stay out of foreign wars" is for the people to vote on whether they want to get in is like a law to amend the multiplication tables.

All this is directed less against the proposal than against Mr. Ludlow's statement that it is the "way to stay out of foreign wars."

CONGRESSMAN LUDLOW
War Referendum Sponsor

The actual resolution, though vague, seems to require a popular referendum "to declare war or to engage in warfare overseas" except in the case of invasion or an "approaching" military expedition or attack on the United States or its possessions by any "non-American nation" against any country in the Western Hemisphere.

That would prevent the use of the Navy to protect our commerce, or in any general war, to operate outside of American waters. Such restrictions would be sheer madness.

THE REAL PURPOSE is to prevent Americans from being drafted to fight in any overseas army without a referendum. WHY NOT SAY SO?

If Mr. Ludlow's resolution merely provided an amendment saying that men shall not, without a referendum, be conscripted to serve in the Armies of the United States in any place except its possessions and the Western Hemisphere, it would be both frank and defensible.

NEW YORK, March 6.—Two patrons in Nyack, N. Y., boasted to their neighbors Charles MacArthur and Heaton Hayes about their tennis prowess. For a $50 bet MacArthur challenged. "I'll forgo up one of my friends from N. Y. and we'll play you one set of doubles."

The challenge was accepted and so MacArthur brought Frank Scully, the Daily Mirror columnist, to Nyack to charge-and-lob Shields serve first. The tennis champ won, but left a New York cafe at 6 o'clock that morning, committed four service-line faults.

"Wait a minute," the startled MacArthur interrupted, "you can't be opponents and then have Shields on the losers' team."

The Nyackers called off the bet, the game was cancelled and the Nyackers won $50.

LISTEN, WORLD! -:- -:- By Elsie Robinson

OF ALL the detestable and demoralizing vices, I do believe pity heads the list.

A man may become addicted to either liquor or drugs and yet regain his physical and spiritual health. But if he once develops a taste for pity, either as a giver or a taker—Heaven help him!

Trouble is—we think that pity and sympathy are synonymous. Which they aren't. Sympathy is a noble and necessary quality. But pity is an insidious termite which undermines any character it attacks. However, since they both look alike on the surface, we make no distinction.

As a consequence, we go around sloshing pity like a fire hose over our unfortunate brothers. Never dreaming that we're thereby demoralizing our own and our neighbor's honesty, spunk and self-respect.

SYMPATHY is unselfish. Pity is nearly always completely selfish. The uses to which Pity may be put are endless. As a tool for egotism, it's a honey. You'd receive a well-deserved sock in the jaw if you told your fellow man that he was a fool and a shiftless weakling.

Yet you convey all this—and then some—with a few pitying phrases . . . thereby boosting your own stock 100 per cent and leaving him not knowing what to do about it.

Not only is pity the perfect camouflage for egotism but it is also the answer to the meddler's prayer. With it as a pretext, you can do more snooping, spying bossing and general heckling than the whole Nazi army. And, again, your victim doesn't know whether you should be kicked or kissed.

And you haven't heard the half yet! While you are using pity to gratify your conceit or salve your sleepiness, what's the other fellow doing? If he's a weakling, he's cashing in on it. PLENTY! Before you came along with your pity, he probably faced his troubles with a fair amount of courage. Now, under your assiduous attentions, he becomes a chronic whiner.

Why be a hero if you can command fat more cash and attention by being a quitter? Why sweat for a living, with sobs paying 12 per cent?

SO, PITY rapidly becomes a racket which has every other "con" game backed off the boards. More trusting friends and relatives have been put on the spot . . . More industrious citizens have been deprived of their cash and security. . . . More wives have been exploited . . . More timid maidens driven into matrimony . . . by the boo-hoo boys than by any other vicious device.

But pernicious as these public practices are, none of them can hold a candle in vileness to SELF PITY.

Self Pity is the lowest form of suicide . . . for it destroys a man's soul while his flesh lingers on.

Analysis of retail sales as reported by the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce indicates a gain in January for those lines related to construction . . .

RECOVERY WAITS U. S. SPENDING CUT

WASHINGTON, March 6 (INS)—Substantial reduction in federal expenditures can be achieved only through a detailed pruning process or a re-examination of broad policies that are now in conflict, the Brookings Institution declares in a survey of the mounting national debt.

Simultaneously the National Economy League delivered a blast for an about face in federal spending, demanded federal expenditures for the fiscal year 1940 be reduced $1,700,000,000 under administration estimates, a $900,000,000 increase in federal taxes, and a cut in the net deficit of more that $3,000,000,000, to about $400,000,000.

"Before lasting recovery and increased employment can be a reality in the United States all doubts about the national credit must be removed," the league said.

The National Economy League's "first reducing" budget would provide for [illegible] to be [illegible] by [illegible] apportionment from the federal government. The [illegible] "[illegible] plan" [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] works program were [illegible]

"As a move in this direction," said the league, "we propose that expenditures for public works be reduced to $650,000,000, including FWA and rural electrification.

"We propose that general public works be cut from $3,344,000,000 for the current fiscal year to $500,000,000. We believe such an expenditure to be ample. It is equivalent to the annual average of all public works for the years 1922 to 1930.

STOP PUMP PRIMING

"Emergency public works, including loans and grants, are reduced (in the League's budget) from $875,000,000 for the fiscal year 1939 to $150,000,000 on the assumption that pump-priming expenditures should cease except for contracts and commitments made this year."

The present rate of federal spending is three times as great as it was in the nine years preceding the deficit period the League said warning:

"An indefinite postponement of a balanced budget will eventually lead to the popular belief that the government is unable even to balance the budget. When that point is reached, public confidence in the national credit will collapse and the government will be forced to drastic measures—excessive taxation or inflation, or both."

Cost of Training Hard on Magnates

IT IS PRETTY GAME OF THE BASEBALL magnates to haul their hordes of players and journalists South for winter boiling, inasmuch as this is an expensive custom which could be suspended by mutual consent. The magnates tick off the expense of maintenance and travel to their advertising accounts, largely on the theory that the editorial lineage wired from the little Southern towns by their guest-authors more than equals the price of hotelage and freightage.

But this theory does not entirely support itself. Some of the club owners broke no better than even at the turnstiles in the Anno Domini 1938 and are having to carve the cost out of their own flesh this spring, with slight prospect of earning it back.

Austen Lake

Well, and now I am quoting Judge K. M. Landis, there is is only one handicap system in the baseball business nowadays. The rich ones consistently make profits and monopolize the pennants. And the impoverished ones, or the relatively poor ones, just stagger along, making very little money and paying meager wages to generally dissatisfied and, on the average, inferior players. This is a system where the strong and efficient consume the weak and incompetent—one that is much frowned upon in Washington these days but one which is none the less a human law.

There Goes My Heart!

UNTOLD STORIES OF THE RING

BY JACK CONWAY

Gene Tunney looked as vigorous and as interested in life during a recent chat as he did that evening in Philadelphia back in 1926 when he won the heavyweight championship of the world from Jack Dempsey.

Gene is living the life of a country gentleman with his wife, the former Polly Lauder, and their children at Greenwich, Connecticut.

The former champion may [illegible] the [illegible] in New York during the day as he is a director in several large corporations.

Jack Conway

"To understand fully how Dempsey knocked me down in the seventh round of our Chicago bout," declared Tunney, "one must go back to my training camp.

INJURED WHILE TRAINING

"Nate Lewis came out to my camp six days before my battle with Dempsey. He had with him a young heavyweight, and he asked me to box with the fellow. I agreed to do so.

"The youngster was awkward and during our workout he jammed his fingers into one of my eyes. I went temporarily blind and it was necessary for me to stop my workout.

"Billy Gibson and myself then told the press that I was down but fine and would not box [illegible] more until I faced Dempsey in Soldiers Field. The truth of the matter was that I could not see out of one eye and was being treated by an eye specialist.

"The sports writers told how I was in seclusion in my camp reading Shakespeare, when as a matter of fact I was resting in a darkened room. I feared for my sight and also for the match itself.

"The advance sale had passed the $1,000,000 mark, and Tex Rickard was talking about a $3,000,000 gate.

"The uniform of my eye impaired sufficiently to enable me to go through with the contest that drew $2,600,000 and which [illegible] a purse of $990,000. [illegible] that [illegible] money.

"As for Jack Dempsey, he was [illegible] the [illegible] and I [illegible] gave all the effects of Dempsey [illegible]

"There was a terrific jam over the referee for the bout," said Tunney. "Dave Miller of Chicago was supposed to referee, and neither Billy Gibson or myself would approve of him. We demanded a change in officials, and Dave Barry, who came from Chelsea, Mass., was selected to referee.

"In his bout with Louis Firpo, Dempsey never retired to a neutral corner after a knockdown. He would stand over Firpo until the latter took his gloves off the canvas, and he would help him. This is why I insisted that the referee enforce the rule that requires a boxer to retire to the furthest neutral corner following a knockdown.

"As I talked about the rules of the bout little did I realize that their strict enforcement would be helpful in my retaining my championship.

"When the bout got under way, I gave scant thought to the condition of my eye, but I was determined that I would not permit it to worry me.

THE LONG COUNT

"Then came the famous seventh round, with Dempsey making his wild bid for a knockout.

"My injured eye blinked under the bright ring lights. Suddenly large white spots appeared before the eye that had been hurt in training and I could [illegible] see.

"I became alarmed. Inside of a few seconds I felt Dempsey's padded glove crash to my injured eye. I then lost the sight of the eye completely. As I dropped to the canvas I was hit seven terrific punches.

"Partly blinded and badly hurt, I waited on the canvas while Referee Dave Barry waited Dempsey to a neutral corner. Dempsey wanted to stand over me so that he would be in better position to knock me out when I got up, but the referee made Jack live up to the rules.

"The referee held up his count while Dempsey retired to a neutral corner.

I wish to make it [illegible] though I was [illegible] and [illegible] from the effects of Dempsey's punches my evil was [illegible] I was thinking all of the [illegible] and could have risen quickly [illegible] and if it had been necessary [illegible] to do so.

"I didn't need the assistance of a long count to retain my championship.

"As I waited to get up, I mapped out my plan of action while big white balls darted in front of my injured eye.

"I concluded that if I rushed into a clinch that Dempsey would throw me off and knock me out. So I decided to keep running backwards as fast as I could until I regained my full strength. As part of my training, I always ran backwards each day.

"Back on my feet, Dempsey rushed at me, but I was able to keep going backwards fast enough to remain out of Dempsey's range. Finally Dempsey stopped cold, and motioned for me to come on and fight. I considered that an admission of defeat, and went on to score a knockdown later in the bout, and easily won the decision."

While Tunney's purse of $989 [illegible] set a record it could have been a good million or more had he accepted a guarantee offered him by Rickard.

REFUSED MILLION DOLLARS

With the big fight booming in Chicago, Rickard asked Tunney to [illegible] his percentage [illegible] and take a million dollar guarantee. Gene refused to do so and his decision cost him an extra $1,000,000.

Tunney's reason for rejecting the Rickard guarantee was on account of an experience he had with Tex in the title bout in Philadelphia.

Tunney originally had a 20 per cent privilege. When Gene questioned the drawing power of the bout in Philadelphia, Rickard agreed to guarantee him $200,000 and he accepted that offer.

The Philadelphia battle drew $1,800,000 and the change in the contracts cost Tunney $160,000. If Gene had kept to his percentage arrangement he would have pulled down $360,000 instead of $200,000. This taught Tunney not to try to beat Rickard in a gamble.

Jack Conway will have another article in his series, "Untold Stories of the Ring," in tomorrow's Boston Evening American. This article will reveal why Jack Dempsey elected to punch it out with Louis Firpo.

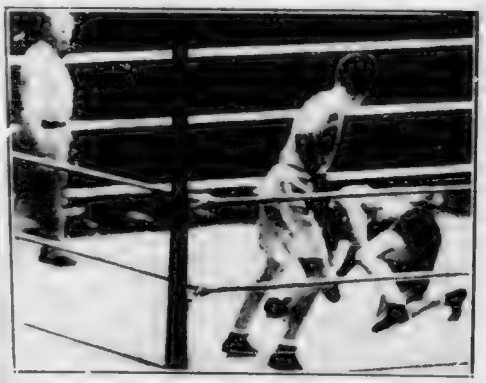
Down goes Tunney. Above we see Tunney on the floor during that never-to-be-forgotten seventh round of the second Dempsey fight in Chicago, where Gene took a count of 14.



Revenge for Tunney as he sends Dempsey to the floor in the ninth round of their second fight to help even matters.

Four Bees' Jobs Still Wide Open

Five Missing Members Due in Wednesday

By JOE CASHMAN

BRADENTON, Fla., March 6—Refreshed after a day of rest, the Bees begin their second week of spring training today.

Experiencing [illegible] weather and spared any trouble from the injury jinx, the Swarm's advance guard has come along very fast.

When the late arrivals get in by Wednesday, they'll find the pitchers throwing fanciest curves and the early birds among the fielders slapping the same all over the premises.

If everybody had lived up to schedule, there would be an even dozen players yet to report, but many couldn't wait to get going.

Al Simmons, Eddie Miller, Elbie Fletcher and "Buddy" Hassett were present for the opening workout last Tuesday. Later in the week Tony Cuccinello, Debs Garms and Jimmy Outlaw, erstwhile hold-outs, checked in.

Thus only Hal Warstler, Johnny Cooney, Johnny Dickshot, Ralph Hodgin and Max West keep the squad of 37 from being complete.

None of these is known to be planning to show up before Wednesday, but it would surprise nobody if all were on hand a day or two before they're due.

DOUBLE WORKOUTS

Manager Casey Stengel will continue to hold two practice sessions daily for all hands right up to the eve of the opening exhibition game with the Cardinals at St. Petersburg on March 15.

He's undecided whether he'll stage any regular-yannigan tilts before the Grapefruit League competition starts.

There's been little opportunity yet to get an accurate line on the relative ability of contenders for several berths, but Stengel has seen enough to reach a few decisions.

CASEY STENGEL

He's convinced that Eddie Miller is his best shortstop, Tony Cuccinello his best second baseman, Al Simmons his best leftfielder and Al Lopez and Al Todd the standouts among his catchers.

FIGHT FOR JOBS

"Buddy" Hassett and Elbie Fletcher continue to battle neck and neck for the first base post.

No less than four hopefuls are tangling at third, they being Debs Garms, Johnny Hill, Bob Kahle and Heinie Majeski.

Rightfield and centerfield also are still wide open with Max West, Johnny Dickshot and Ralph Hodgin eyeing the former and Jimmy Outlaw and Johnny Cooney preparing to contest for the latter.

Danny MacFayden, Jim Turner, Lou Fette and Dick Errickson are set on the mound. Nine aspirants seek the six vacancies with Fred Frankhouse, Tom Early, John Pezzullo, Milt Sheffner, John Lanning and Joe Sullivan in front at this writing.

Red Wings Win Over Americans, 4 to 2

NEW YORK, March 6 (AP)—Flashing their best form of the season on Manhattan ice, the Detroit Red Wings strengthened their hold on fifth place in the National Hockey League standings with a 4 to 2 victory over the New York Americans. A crowd of 5000 saw the game.

Sports Mirror

By the Associated Press

TODAY A YEAR AGO—War Admiral won $50,000 Widener Challenge Cup race by two lengths over Zeyson with War Minstrel third.

THREE YEARS AGO—Primo Carnera scored technical knockout over Ivy Gastanaga in fifth round.

FIVE YEARS AGO—Holcombe Ward, member of 1900 Davis Cup team, named United States Davis Cup committee chairman for 1934.

BILL'S SPORT-O-GRIMES

If they chalk up a victory over the Red Wings tomorrow night, the Bruins will win the N. H. L. title . . . With five games to play against seven for Rangers, the Rosemen have a a 13-point lead . . . Bob McPhail, the former Dartmouth quarterback, will leave for the Pacific Coast on Friday . . . He visits for a week in 'Frisco and Los Angeles and then plans to spend a couple of months in Arizona.

Frank Ceryance, goalie of the Holzhaugh team of the Michigan-Ontario Amateur Hockey League, was suspended recently for asking for more salary and an automobile . . . The officiating during the finals of the "Reggies" was very lax . . . so many fouls were allowed to pass unnoticed that it's no wonder that "Southie" took exception to the ruling which disqualified their relay team . . . Unless holding penalties are called during the Bruins-Ranger playoffs, the New Yorkers are going to be very tough to beat, even for the Rosmen.

Ching Johnson

Ott Heller is a past master at holding . . . He's even better than Ching Johnson was . . . Raymie Skilton, old "Poo Baa" himself, sat in on the Bruins-Ranger game . . . He's in great shape and looks like he could go right out there and play up to his old time standard.

Fred Perry, the tennis star, who'll meet Don Budge at the Garden next Saturday night, is an ardent hockey enthusiast . . . He watched last night's melee, but stated that, for roughness, it didn't compare to the first game he ever saw, a Bruins-Toronto tilt about four years ago . . . Clarence Campbell, the referee, was very lenient when he failed to penalize both of the Patrick brothers during the third period. The Patricks rushed at him when he "thumbed Muzz to the penalty box and but for some fast flipping Campbell would have taken a nasty toss . . . He gave Muzz a minor and a match misconduct but let Lynn off Scot-free . . . I'd like to see the Patricks or any other pair of puck chasers try that stunt on Mickie Ion.

Bill Cowley

Young Roy Conacher needs only two goals to tie the mark his brother, "Chuck," established during his freshman year with the Maple Leafs . . . Incidentally, Roy believes that Bill Cowley is a better play maker than Joe Primeau was when "Chuck" broke in . . . High praise . . . Babe Pratt tripped Mel Hill but Ott Heller was given the penalty.

The Bruins hope that the Rangers elect to play a body-checking game against them during the playoffs . . . They'd also appreciate a few tips on the code of rules which will be in vogue during the playoffs . . . Woody Dumart was very fortunate that he was not seriously injured when Bryan Hextall hurled him into the boards . . . Some day that big Dutchman will get mad and then watch out . . . the gallery gods will be in danger if he ever goes berserk.

Canadiens Take 6th Place in Win

CHICAGO, March 6 (AP)—The Montreal Canadiens took over undisputed possession of sixth place in the National Hockey League, defeating the Chicago Blackhawks, 2-1, in an overtime game that returned the losers to the cellar.

All the scoring came in the third and overtime periods after two comparatively tame and uneventful stanzas.

WILSON CHAMP AGAIN! PICKS 114 WINNERS AT HIALEAH!

Dave Wilson, race handicapper for the Boston Sunday Advertiser and Boston Evening American, was crowned champion once more during the meeting that closed at Hialeah Park Saturday.

A $2 flat bet on each of Wilson's selections would have shown a profit of $87.80.

A $2 play on each of Wilson's daily doubles would have resulted in a winning score of $284.70.

A $2 wager on each of Dave's best bets would have won $4.80.

This gave a total profit of $377.30.

Wilson picked three winners on the closing day at Hialeah. They were Tall Store, $5.30; Panorama, $4.70, and Teddy Weed, $3.70. Bull Lea, Wilson's second choice in the $50,000 Widener Cup race, won.

Wilson has moved to Tropical Park for the meeting that opens today.

FINAL 'PURE' TRIALS LURE 107 ENTRANTS

By RINGSIDE

There should be blazing action in the fourth and final tryouts for the New England boxing championships when 107 youthful ring hopefuls blaze into action at the Arena tonight.

There will be contests in each of the eight championship classes. The survivors will compete against the winners of the three other tryout tournaments in the New England finals on next Monday night.

Pitt Accepts Sutherland's Resignation

PITTSBURGH, March 6 (AP)—Chancellor John G. Bowman today accepted the resignation of Dr. John Bain (Jock) Sutherland as head football coach at the University of Pittsburgh, effective immediately.

The chancellor made the announcement without comment, by releasing his letter accepting the resignation offered unexpectedly by the noted coach last week.

"I have no immediate plans for the future," Sutherland said upon receipt of the letter from Bowman. He has been in contact, however, with officials of Mississippi State College, which needs a football coach.

Tropical Park Opens Up Today

MIAMI, Fla., March 6 (AP)—Tropical Park race track, improved some $50,000 worth since the first half of its split season, today takes over the sport of kings which ended at Hialeah in a chorus of laments.

The second half of Tropical's winter session runs until April 8, by which time the monied winter visitors will have thinned down until blizzards drive them South again.

JIMMY FOXX RATES TITLE OF 'SPEED KING'

SARASOTA, Fla., March 6—Jake Wade's ankle is back to normal again after the strain it received when he stepped on a rolling baseball . . . Jake spent the winter hunting deer and turkey in the Carolines . . . Paul Waner, all 200 pounds of him, is still a bold, bad holdout. Methinks Paul is ducking that cross-continental trip to San Bernardino, Calif., where the Pirates train . . . Al Schacht played to 515,000 customers during his tour of the minors last year. That's more than a few major league clubs drew. Al worked on a flat guarantee basis last year, thereby giving himself the leg. He's smarter this year. He's demanding a percentage of the gate receipts . . .

Herb Pennock went out to see Sam Byrd play golf. "Imagine anybody wasting all those years on the Yankees' bench when he can play golf like that," mused Herb. Sam is one of the top flight golfers in the winter pro brigade . . . Danny Galehouse and Charlie Wagner were the first Red Sox pitchers to start curving them . . .

For a little fellow that Peacock certainly can punch that ball . . . And for a big fellow, Jimmy Foxx certainly can pick them up and lay them down. He's one of the very fastest men in the league . . . Nobody would want a nicer fellow on the ball club than Joe Vosmik. Nor a nicer hitter . . .

Charlie Wagner does not confine his talents to the mound. He can play a sweet game at third base, as he shows daily during batting practice . . . Jimmy Barry, South Boston Royal Rooter, has been laid up w. a severe attack of sunburn. Jimmy Ferritte and Jimmy Hurley of Kenned'a and Joe Di Stasio of Purcell's are among the Bostonians still here. Johnny Martin, Tommy Donovan and George Murphy left for home via St. Petersburg.

FINNEGAN.

Pat Comiskey to Bid for Title

Irish Without Ring Champion

PATRICK EDWARD Comiskey of Paterson, N. J., is the dream of every boxing manager in the country. An Irishman who can fight.

There once was a period in boxing when most of the champions were Irish. The Irish then went in for the white collar jobs in boxing. They became promoters and managers, and left the actual fighting to persons of other nationalities.

Today there is not a single Irish ring king.

The triumphs of such famous Irish champions as John L. Sullivan, Jake Kilrain, Mike O'Dowd, Gene Tunney, Johnny Kilbane, Jimmy Walsh and Jim Corbett are only memories.

There is a general desire on the part of all races to see another Irish boxing champion which is why the 18-year-old Comiskey has been so warmly received in New York. Comiskey is a handsome, six-foot youngster and weighs 198 pounds.

I saw Comiskey box in a preliminary bout on the Louis-Lewis card. He still has much to learn about boxing, but is certain to improve. It takes from three to five years to develop a first class heavyweight, and consequently the Jersey youngster will be 21 to 23 years of age before he is ready to shoot for the big money.

Comiskey will appear in a six-round bout on the Argonne Club's heavyweight card at Mechanics Building on Wednesday night. He will have Julio Ortensio, Spanish heavyweight, as an opponent in a six-round bout.

Comiskey is in the same fistic stable with Maurice Strickland of New Zealand who clashes with Jack Pallat of Cleveland in a 10-round bout on the same card. Strickland is the big fellow Jack Kearns has been telling folks is the most promising of the white heavyweights.

"Tiger" Warrenton of Nova Scotia will also be in the ring Wednesday night with Roy Lazer of Newark as an opponent.

Al McCoy Here for Pastor Bout

AL McCOY, NEW England heavyweight champion, popped into town over the week-end to finish training for his 10-round tussle with Bob Pastor of New York at a Goodwin A. C. show at the Garden on Friday night. McCoy did his preliminary conditioning at Lou Stillman's Gym in New York where he had the assistance of half a dozen sturdy sparring partners.

"I am sure I shall win from Pastor, and I will try to make my victory decisive by scoring a knockout," said McCoy. "I hit my old winning stride in my recent bout with Buddy Knox. My timing and punching are now good, while I don't tire.

"I had been out of the ring for five months when I met Pastor at the Garden last June. This is why I lost. If you remember, I gave Bob quite a shellacking in the seventh and eighth rounds, and then stopped dead. This was because I tired.

"If I win from Pastor, I can step into the title picture. When somebody like Tony Galento can get a bout with Louis, there should be a good chance for me to get a crack at the title. If I couldn't knock out Galento inside of three rounds, I would quit boxing."

Hoover Gets "The Shadow's" Finger Prints

FINGER PRINTS of "The Shadow," world's heavyweight wrestling champion as a result of his victory over Steve Casey, have been sent to J. Edgar Hoover, head of the G-men at Washington. The finger prints were taken by Chief of Police Timothy F. Leahy of Cambridge.

The reason for sending the finger prints of "The Shadow" to Hoover was to prevent any fraudulent attempt on the part of another masked marvel to capitalize on the champion's title. If a phoney masked marvel tries to get money from the public on the claim he is "The Shadow," Hoover will be asked to act. Hoover has also been informed that if he wishes he may have the name and unmasked photograph of "The Shadow" for his private files.

"The Shadow," through Manager Eddie Quinn, has applied to the U. S. patent office at Washington for registration of the name "The Shadow," as it applies to a wrestler. The application sets forth that this name has been used for six months, that it identifies its owner as the world's champion, and that it has great financial value.

The master minds of the wrestling world have found new duties for Federal officials.

Word has been received in Boston by Johnny Rogers that Jackie Jurich, American flyweight champion, looked impressive as he won from Small Montana in seven rounds in Hollywood.

MONTANEZ VS. BERG

NEW YORK, March 6 (INS)—Pedro Montanez of Puerto Rico today neared the end of his training grind for his Hippodrome 10-rounder Friday night with Jackie (Kid) Berg.

Gruen Gives Watches for Bowlers

By WALTER KILEY

The prize lists for the fourth annual Boston Evening American-Daily Record grand candlepin bowling championships, to be held at the Huntington Club, Saturday, March 25, through Saturday, April 8, are gradually growing to most sizable proportions.

There will be hundreds of wonderful awards for our amateur New England title aspirants before the mammoth congress officially opens.

Today, however, our always good friend, Gruen Watch Company of Time Hill, Cincinnati, comes to bat with the lineup of the 11 wonderful Gruen Precision 17-jewel wrist watches which it has donated for the top awards.

There are 11 of these Gruen wrist timepieces and each is the most modern model.

AMATEURS RULE

While the amateur division naturally will be represented by far the largest numbers of championship-bent contestants, the "open" division will, from indications, boast the biggest field of top flight stars in New England pin history.

All the so-called big shots of the sport are even now tuning up their games, getting that split second accuracy and control which differentiates the outstanding bowler from the average.

While the opening shots will be fired on Saturday, March 25, fact of the matter is that there is only about two weeks remaining before entries for the great classic close.

For in order to have the starting times and lists ready for publication the lists must close for good sometime early the week of Monday, March 20, which means that there's little time remaining to crash the tourney portals.

So let us once again urge one and all to get that signed entry blank into today's mails and advise, too, that the entry fee be enclosed with blank.

The "More the Merrier" is the tourney motto.
